

Dedication is the key to success

We have been in our business for almost 40 years. And by "our business" we mean air caster transport. Our roots are in engineering and we built our business by working closely with our customers.

For us, air casters transport is more than just a way of moving, it's our passion. Aerofilm has been a family business since 1981 where we are constantly looking for the best solution with a team of technical specialists. Loyalty is important to us, also to our customers. We have long-term relationships with many of them. They know they can rely on us. In doing so, we strive to exceed expectations and always go the extra mile.

We have our own production facility of 16,000 sqft in Eindhoven and a sales office in Kleve, Germany and Westfield, Indiana (USA). We design and produce air casters and air caster systems. Everything is developed and produced by a highly skilled and experienced team with an eye for detail and a well thought-out approach. No surprises. We take care of it from start to finish.

We are Aerofilm: Freedom to move!
